Krishna Janmastami

This auspicious cultural festival was celebrated on the 2082, 31st of Shrawan. On this day, many children came beautifully dressed as Lord Krishna and Goddess Radha, bringing a divine charm to the occasion. The school atmosphere was filled with joy and devotion as teachers and students together worshiped them with love and respect.

To make the day more memorable, devotional songs and bhajan were sung and some students performed small play (dramas) of lord Krishna and goddess Radha. This celebration not only gave students the opportunity to express their creativity but also helped them to understand the cultural and religious value that have been passed down for generation.

Paving of Play Ground

Playground was paved this year to provide children with more space and facilities for playing and physical activities. Because of heavy monsoon and being school located in steep land area, it was extremely important to maintain the proper drainage for these playgrounds as so much of the rainwater would seep inside the ground and would compromise the whole integrity of the school.

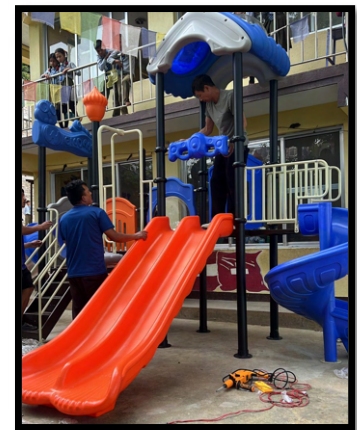

The school had kind visitor, Claudio Damonte, who wished to help us with paving and its all made possible with his kind support. With these improvements, we have already made through the destructive heavy downpour and students can now enjoy outdoor activities safely, and the school environment is more secure and welcoming. This reflects the school's commitment to both student safety and overall development.

Play station

To make the school environment more enjoyable for younger students, a new play station has been set up in the school's old ground with the kind help from Claudio Damonte. This play area consists of slides and other fun equipment designed especially for kids giving them a safe space to play during leisure time. It provides both entertainment and opportunities for physical activity.

Gen - Z protest

On 2082 Bhadra 23 and 24, the Gen - Z protest took place which became a significant moment for the younger generation of our country. Many youths actively participated in the protest to raise their voices against corruption and to demand positive change for the future.

In this movement several houses of corrupt politicians were on fire as well as many other building including Nepal's historic administrative center Singha Durbar, Supreme Court etc.

Sadly the movement also witnessed the loss of many young lives, reminding us of the heavy sacrifices made by the new generation in their struggle for a better future. The event reflected the courage awareness and unity of the new generation who are determined to take responsibility and stand up for their rights. This event will be remembered as a symbol of youth strength, unity and their unwavering hope for change. This protest caused our school to remain closed for many days.

Second Terminal Examination

The second terminal examination of our school was originally scheduled to begin on 2082, Bhadra 25 and conclude on Ashwin 2. However, due to the Gen - Z protest, which led to a nationwide shutdown and curfew declared by the authorities Bhadra 25, 26 and 27.

The examination schedule had to be adjusted. The exams were subsequently conducted from Bhadra 29 to Ashwin 6. Despite these unforeseen disruptions, the examination proceeded smoothly and efficiently. Only two students were initially absent but they were later able to complete the entire exam successfully.

Thanks to the dedicated efforts of our teachers and the active participation of the students, the examination were held in an organized and disciplined manner, even amidst the challenging circumstances faced across the country.

Dashain Vacation

After the completion of the second terminal examination, the school observed the Dashain Vacation from Ashwin 7 to Ashwin 20. Dashain is the biggest festival celebrated by Nepali people, making a time of joy, family and relatives gathering and cultural tradition.

During the vacation, teachers also assigned a small amount of holiday homework ensuring that students could continue their learning while enjoying the festivities.
